Foreword

We, the class of '54, have put forth our ideas, time, and efforts to produce a record of the events at G. H. S. for the year 1954. Our hope is that in later years you may turn to this book and remember the years past; that your memory will be refreshed by the events and friendships of this year.

The year of '54 will pass, but not its memories and friendships—these will be lasting. The book will only portray partial memories but these will bring to mind others. Thus, in times to come you can again relive this year by the memories brought back by this book.

Maybe you will remember this year as your first year in high school, your first banquet, your first participation in sports, your first class project, your first academic success, your first appearance for an entertainment; but for some reason each year will be remembered. Don't let these memories lapse—they are your life.

NELSON COLBY—October 15. Related his experience of life as a convict in prison.

VAL LOUDER—October 30. Presented “What I Found Out About You,” a talk based on her journalistic career.

THE MAC GREGORS—November 25. Brought Scotland to G.H.S. with bagpipes, folk songs, and dances.

GARETH MATTHEWS—January 14. Spoke of his travels and experience in Europe, mostly Germany.

THE SMYTHS—January 28. Presented a humorous program on twin pianos.

ALBERT WINDLE—February 22. A blind minister, explained a frequently asked question, “Well, how can he see if he doesn’t see?”

Junior Class Activities

The juniors have worked hard to make this year a success. From the first football games to the last they were ambitious in every respect.

During the basketball season they worked with even more zeal. Nearly every member of the class set to work selling potato chips, cakes, ice cream, and candy during the games. Each took his turn mornings, evenings, and after school, selling concessions.

The after-game dances sponsored by these busy juniors were very successful.

On May 14 the great night arrived! Here was the goal toward which they had been striving—the banquet! The guests immediately upon arrival were whisked "South of the Border". Those who helped plan this trip were the junior class advisers, Miss Hays, Mr. Bateman, and Mr. Harman; the co-chairmen, Virginia Sauder and William Starner; the toastmaster, Dan Patter; and the other committee chairmen, Georgia Zall, Gene Bartels, Roger Weimer, Leonard Vanderbasch, Alan LaRue, Reba Knapp, Dorothy Carper, Nancy Yarde, Barbara Craw, Pat Miser, Alice Faye Brand, and Frances Carper.

"Glamour Boy"

The class of '54 presented the three-act comedy "Glamour Boy" on April 8 and 9. The important, but inconspicuous, group pictured in the lower right hand corner, were the behind-the-scenes crew that made the lights go off and on, and did the dirty work. Lawrence Lantz, stage manager, and Aunito Schlotterback, props manager, are shown with their assistants, Virginio Bortels and George Griswold. Not shown is Carolyn Maggert, also on the props committee. These five also doubled as actors for the "mob" scenes.

In the upper left hand corner, Barbora Curie, as the office secretary, shows her annoyance with Clariso, portrayed by Marlene Feick, as Miss Higgins, played by Shirley Eastes, enjoys the whole thing.

In the picture at right center, Evelyn Garen portrays Miss Prescott, the very stern English teacher, who doesn't seem to share in the mood of Mrs. Mooney and Miss Thorndyke, played by Jeannene Moses and Solly Zimmerman respectively.

In the upper right hand corner, the photographer, portrayed by Sharron Andrews, and the radio announcer, played by Danny DePew, exploit the spectacular rescue of the dream. Also shown are "Glamour Boy," Chauncey Jay Mooney, and the object of his affections, Georgia Belle Roberts, played by Franklin Trostel and Hazel Mertz.

Junior-Senior Picnic

On May 17, juniors and seniors bounded through the halls of G.H.S. and departed for Pokagon State Park. This was the day of the annual Junior-Senior Picnic. Upon arrival, many donned their swim suits for a "dip" in the warm (?), refreshing water of Lake James. With the splash of the water and the flourish of flying sand, the day of fun began. As soon as they tired of swimming, they started a game of softball. Some outdoor men "light footed" it across the sands and through the woods on a hike. Of course, the big event of the day was the potluck supper in the pavilion. After everyone had his fill of food, water pistols appeared on the scene. This provided entertainment (??) (did I say entertainment?) for a number of them. At last the day was over. They started home, waterlogged and tired; yet satisfied and contented with their day of fun.

Junior-Senior Banquet

On May 5, 1953, juniors and seniors entered the "Space Queen" on the stratapart of Garrett High School for their "Flight Into Fantasy". We fastened our safety belts and felt the thrill of being lifted off the ground. With Captain Videotape (Dennis Casey) as pilot, our safety was assured. Stars passed by the thousands and our journey into outer space was well under way. To relieve tension on board, entertainment was provided by the "Space Conquerors" (Bellairs) and after we had traveled for some time, dinner was served. Shortly after dinner we made a stop at Mars. Waiting for the take-off, we wandered around—breath-taken with this mysterious planet. Here we saw the Martians (waitresses), creatures we had read about but never dreamed of seeing. It was here, also, that we picked up the "Mad Man from Mars" (Richard Capin) who completed the journey with us. We visited the Moon, Venus, Pluto, and a host of other planets. Finally our journey came to an end, and we landed back on this old planet EARTH again. It was truly an evening of adventure—an evening never to be forgotten.

Athletic Department

Whenever the Railroaders take the court or field, one thing is certain: the fans and students of Garrett know that their team is one of the best equipped in this part of the state. This of course could not be possible if it were not for the athletic department. Their efforts usually go unnoticed, even though much work on their part is required to make Garrett's program a success. Each member has a certain job that he performs, whether it be coaching, distributing tickets, or handling equipment. These men go about their jobs deriving only the pleasure of working with the boys, who they know will be greatly benefited in later life because of their participation in sports while at Garrett High School.

Football

COACH TOM DEAN

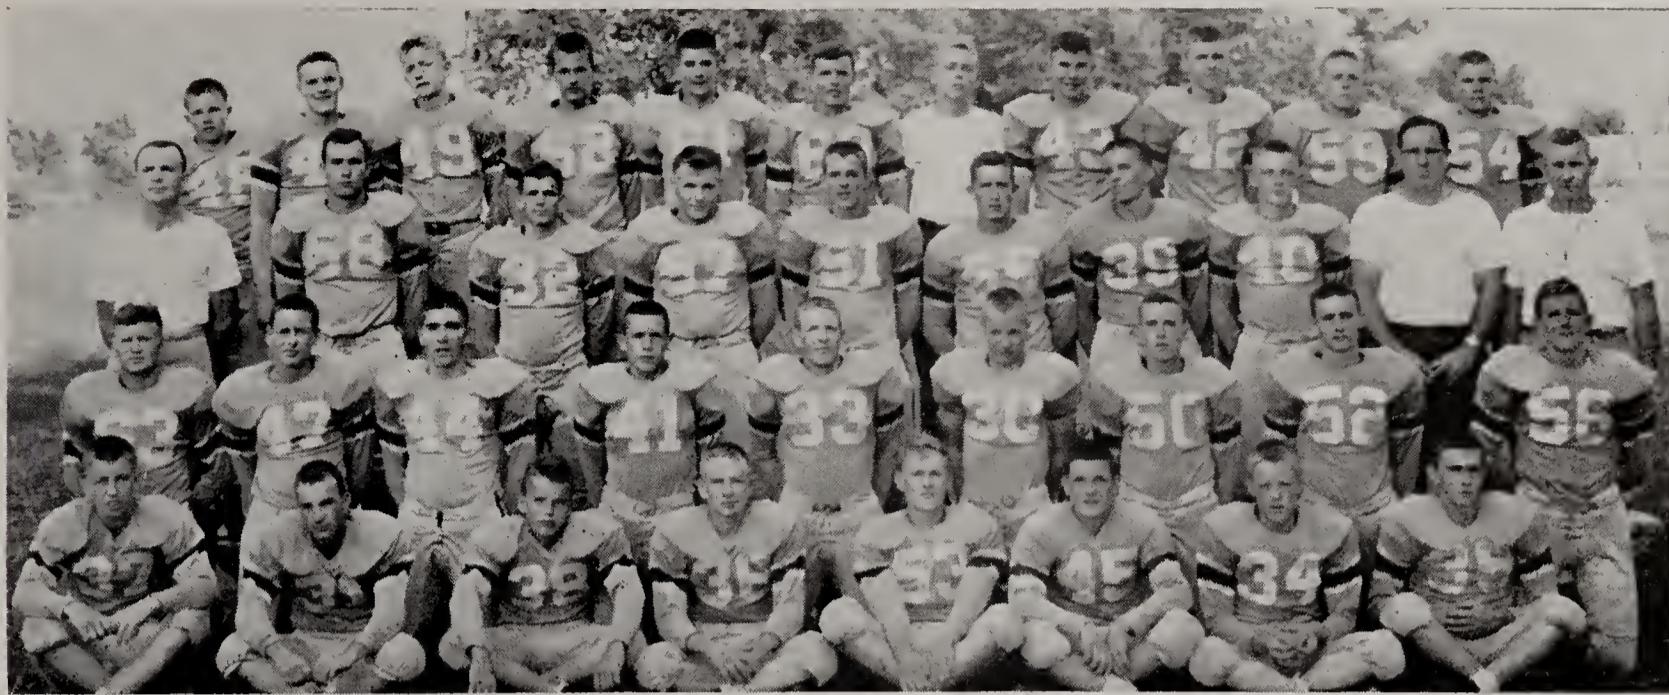

Garrett's running attack was one of the best in the conference this year, but a good possessing attack was lacking.

Garrett can look forward to a good season next year. Only six seniors were lost while many of the younger boys began to show promise near the end of this season. Fifteen lettermen will return next year which should form a good nucleus for the team.

Basketball

Although Garrett's overall basketball record was not too impressive this year, the fans are looking forward to the future.

The Railroaders showed fine poise and ability during their last five regularly scheduled games, and they surprised everyone by advancing to the final game of the sectional only to be defeated by Auburn by one point. This same Auburn team defeated them during the regular season by eighteen points. The highlight of their climb up the sectional ladder was a victory over a tough Fremont five that had compiled a nineteen and two record over the regular season. The Railroaders also defeated Churubusco who moved on to the semi-finals of the sectional by virtue of a twenty point victory margin over Angola.

Many of Garrett's opponents this year had too much height for the Railroaders to play a man to man defense. In answer to this problem, Coach Dean employed a zone defense which proved very successful against such teams as Lew Wallace, Decatur, Fremont and Churubusco.

Eight of the first ten will be back next year. These boys will have the necessary experience and also the knack of working together which is required in order to have a truly great basketball team.

3. Coach Robert Harman, James Maurer, Garth Gillespie, Jerry Kugler, Paul Griffin.

Track

For the past five years, track has been Garrett's strongest sport. It is a sport where the individual can star as well as the team. Garrett has produced many great individuals in track and in doing so has piled up a large number of team victories.

Although the Railroaders are hindered by the loss of outstanding lettermen each year, they still continue their fine showing and represent their school well.

This year the heaviest burden was carried by the underclassmen. They performed their job well. With hard work on their part in the future, Garrett will be strong in track not only next year but for several years to come.

Departments

Shop

Working together in a democratic group, shop students, under the supervision of Mr. Woodcox, have varied activities. The Junior High Student begins with woodwork, leather-craft, and elementary electricity.

The high school student starts with mechanical drawing; then takes up woodcraft, plastics, concrete, metal, lathe work, etc. Corner shelves, cedar chests, lawn pedestals, and internal carvings are among the projects in these fields.

In developing their projects, shop students learn the use and care of the various shop machines, among which are the sander, grinder, jointer, circle saw, and router shaper.

English - Speech - Journalism

"Good English is an Art—not a Science". It is the result of practice rather than precept. The fact that one understands what another means is not all that is necessary.

Through the study of the classics, the best in periodic literature, use of the materials available in the school and public library, plus the very best in school text material, our English Department hopes to develop the student's vocabulary, so that he may be able to write or say in clear, unmistakably correct English, what he has in mind.

In addition to learning the correct usage of the English language, the Speech students are taught other general rules for public speaking: poise, posture, clear enunciation, voice control, all directed by Mrs. Schlecht.

Another course in advanced English is Journalism. Here one learns the fundamentals of all phases of journalism. This class, under the direction of Miss Evard, handles every detail connected with the publication of the school paper, a mirror of our school life. In this department the student increases his writing ability, learns to think independently, write creatively, assume responsibility, work with others, and he develops a knowledge of the type of news that is of general interest. It is closely allied with the Speech and English Departments in that one must express himself intelligently, concisely, and correctly, if he wants his article to appear in the "Maroon and Blue Streamliner."

Physical Education

As this department is designed to develop healthy minds and bodies, all students are required to participate in physical culture programs. Girls develop skill in basketball, volley ball, tumbling, kick ball, soccer, and ring tennis. This year Garrett girls participated for the first time in "Play Day." At Kendallville they were victors in volley ball against all the teams present. A play day at Muncie was a demonstration of individual skills in various sports.

The boys' physical education department has four main seasonal interests: softball in the fall, basketball and volley ball in the winter, and track in the spring. They also include tumbling and various game activities.

Homemaking

Beginning in Junior High, girls learn the fundamentals of sewing and how to prepare family meals economically. Advancing to the higher grades, the study gradually increases to include such subjects as personal improvement, social relations, more advanced meal preparation, home safety, child care, home management, interior decoration, and the care of the sick in the home. Special projects include the application of what is learned in class to practical use in the home. A conference with Mrs. Fouch, director of this department, is held every two weeks. The goal: To teach better living today in order that we may have a better world tomorrow.

Agriculture

All the students enrolled in the Agriculture Course in Garrett High this year are members of the Future Farmers of America.

Many of the students work toward the Hoosier Farmer Degree award. This award is based on productive projects, supplementary and improvement practices, leadership, scholastic and F.F.A. records.

The boys participated in essay, oratorical, and judging contests and had many entries at the county fair. Some of their projects are: beef, hogs, dairy, corn, wheat, oats, etc. There are also projects in such fields as Farm Mechanics, Farm Electrification, Farm Improvement, etc.

Judith Bonnett, Kay Cramer, Barbara Busz, Sally Zimmerman, Virginia Bartels, Carolyn Brown, Evelyn Zecca, Ruth Sparks, Carolyn Maggert.

Walter Wood, Robert Bowman, Alan LaRue, Robert Prinzing.

Vocal Music

The High School Vocal Department, under the direction of Mrs. John Flora, comprises four groups.

The girls' and boys' choruses have 136 members. As a combined group they appear on many special programs and at the spring concert. The girls' chorus presents the music for Baccalaureate.

The boys' quartette, composed of Walter Wood, Robert Prinzing, Robert Bowman, and Alan LaRue, sing as a school group and also present numbers for public occasions.

A newly formed group, the Triple Trio, is composed of nine senior girls: Kay Cramer, Carolyn Maggert, Ruth Sparks, Sally Zimmerman, Judy Bonnett, Barbara Busz, Carolyn Brown, Virginia Bartels, and Evelyn Zecca. This group has sung for many school programs and outside organizations. Entering the vocal contests, they received a Superior rating at the District and a Good rating at the State Contest.

Commerce

English, Business Math, General Business, Gym-Safety, Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and Typing, combine to make a well-rounded commercial course in Garrett High. This course, under the able direction of Miss Gump and Mrs. Schlecht, enables the commercial student, without further training, to obtain a position in the business world after graduation.

Students in this course learn all the fundamentals and attitudes necessary to enter the business world. By doing special work from the outside they are well acquainted with various types of business work and can easily obtain a job.

Art Department

In the art room one finds on display the artistic efforts of the future Michael Angelos, Whistlers, Homers, and Sargents. Garrett High School students are encouraged in creative art as well as copying the works of great painters. They are not only encouraged to create their own designs, but are allowed to indulge their fancies in oils, pastels, water colors, and pencil sketching. Their work may be exhibited annually at the public library, and students are urged to enter the art contests sponsored by various local, state, and national organizations. Usually, students from this department serve on all decorating committees for school activities.

Science and Mathematics

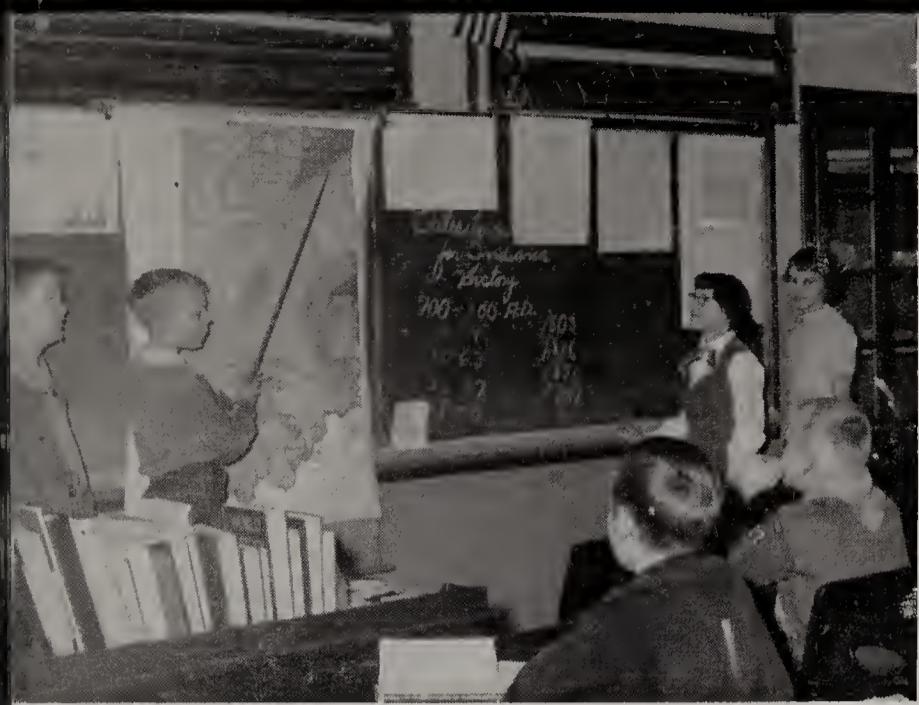

The work of the Physics and Chemistry departments is experimental and theoretical, combining group discussion, library research, and laboratory work.

The Biology student can often be found peering into a microscope or collecting bugs.

In the Math rooms you will find students working at the board on formulas or drawing geometric designs.

These departments strive to develop scientific thinking, acquaint the student with life about him, and lay the foundation for the student who plans to enter the field of science. These departments work together but one is not required for the other.

Social Science

The Social Science department includes World History, United States History, Civics, and Economics.

History students may always be found working on extra projects. Besides outside reading, they make doll costumes, covered wagons, collect stamps and coins, or work on other history projects.

Economics and Civics prepare the student for the big job of citizenship. One of the important features this year concerned income tax returns.

Latin

Besides obtaining a knowledge of the fundamentals of the Latin language, Latin students obtain a knowledge of English fundamentals, for Latin is a good basis for all language. A good Latin vocabulary increases the student's knowledge of English. By local competitive examinations, four students were selected to represent Latin I and II in the Indiana Achievement Contests. Stanley Hoke was a second place silver medal winner in the state contest.

"Heads He Burns" was the second of the Drama Club plays. Shown in the lower right picture, are Jerry Clark, Leonard Vanderbosch, David Deihl, and Frank... Trostel.

Aeolian Staff

The 1954 Aeolian staff began their work in November of 1953. Evelyn Garen, editor, and Mrs. Sweeney, faculty advisor, got the production staff and their work under way.

Jeannene Moses, business manager, and Mrs. Schlecht started work on the business end of the yearbook. They solicited business houses and secured subscribers and advertisers.

Aeolian artist, Shirley Eastes, drew the cover. The color and type of cover was chosen, and the staff began to see the beginning of their creation. Dennis Casey and Virginia Bartels busied themselves with classes. Sharron Andrews interviewed seniors, while Susan Warfield gathered "faculty facts." Barbara Curie, Marlene Feick, and Jerry Clark collected data about activities.

George Griswold was the sports editor; Evelyn Zecca and Connie Schumaker completed the production staff. Additional members of the business staff were Thomas Smith, Ruth Sparks, Fred Roberts, Aunita Schlotterback, Robert Howey, Eleanor Newman, Virginia Kruger, Robert Davis, and John McBride.

When the information was collected, it was typed by Barbara Busz and Hazel Mertz, Aeolian typists. With hard work and co-operation from all, the work was completed and books were distributed.

Maroon and Blue Streamliner

In 1954 the Maroon and Blue had a circulation of 365! Hundred per cent Home Rooms were 11 and 28.

The biggest job, of course, was the behind-the-scenes work. It consisted of interviews, soliciting merchants, proofreading, putting the paper to press, and circulating each issue.

Besides putting out the paper, the staff sponsored the annual "doping contest." The prize money was equivalent to the cost of a regional ticket.

Due to Miss Evard's capable leadership and the staff's co-operation, the Streamliner was a success in mirroring school life around G. H. S.

Band

RAYMOND COLE
Band Director

The band under the direction of Mr. Cole is always an active organization. In early fall they made preparations to march in the DeKalb County Free Fall Fair and in the Bluffton Street Fair. This is only the beginning of their year's schedule. They participate in the annual Spring Concert, Commencement, enter the North Eastern Indiana State Band, Orchestra, and Vocal Association Contest, present their annual band concert for the public, and participate in various other school activities.

The twirlers also are very busy during the year. Besides putting on performances at the games they participate in many contests.

Through sponsoring a basketball game between the Lions Club and the faculty, their band concert, tag day, and the help of the band parents, the band members purchased new uniforms.

Scout Club

"Be Prepared" and "In turn do a good deed for the day," are the mottoes every Boy Scout tries to live by. This idea has been very well demonstrated by the scouts as busy leaders in community activities and through their group projects and good deeds.

Operators Club

For the first time in G.H.S. a club was formed, under the direction of Mr. Bateman, for young men interested in the learning and operation of movie and film strip projectors, flash cameras, and slides. These boys are available at any time during school hours to help teachers in presenting movies to students.

Sitting

Fred Knott, Larry Hixson, Thomas Farrington, Harold Nott.

Student Council

The Student Council, composed of students chosen from each home room, is advised by Mr. Flora, the principal. The purpose of this organization is that of bringing out and analyzing student problems and suggesting solutions for these problems.

Seated: Marlene Feick, Thomas Smith, James Carroll, Sharon Dickison.

Standing: Sharon Cordes, Marilyn Reynolds, Hans Heinzerling, Charlotte Atkins, Belva Crager, Olivia Cleland, Nancy Smith, Donna Crow, William Harding, Virginia Souder, Judy Bonnett, JoHanna Simon.

Hi-Y

The Hi-Y, an organization of high school boys, is a part of the state Y. M. C. A.

There is a total number of 6,000 Hi-Y clubs all over the country. These 6,000 clubs make up a total number of 200,000 members.

The Garrett High School Hi-Y was first started several years ago but it was dropped for a few years; then this year it was again an enthusiastic and busy organization under the direction of Mr. Pugh.

Seated: Leonard Vanderbosch, secretary; Kenneth Severson, vice-president; Don Potter, president; William Kelham, treasurer.

Middle Row: Fred Knott, Harry Manges, Paul Sparks, Larry Hixon, Jerry Bowmar, Robert Bowman, Robert Wiant, Mr. Pugh.

Standing:

Eleanor Bowes, Dorothy Carper, Rae Ann Trainer, Carole Swander.

Seated:

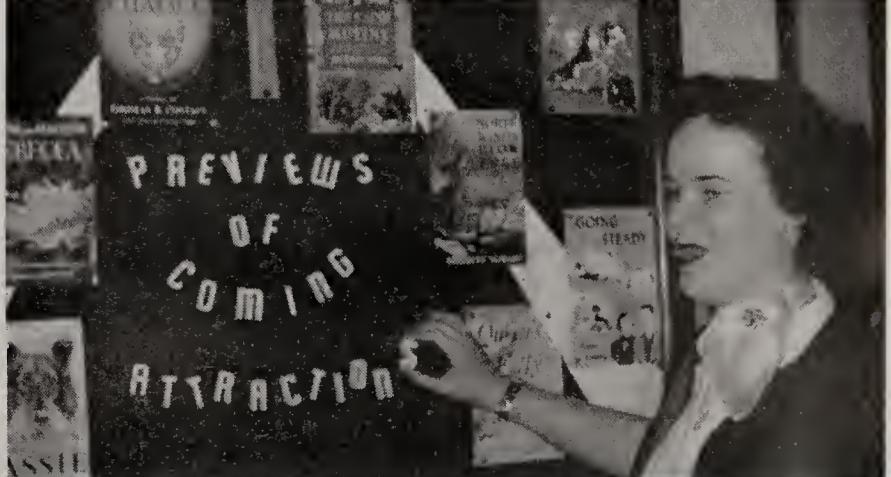

Judy Wood, Shirley Eastes, Virginia Bartels.

Library Club

Under Mrs. Sweeney's supervision, the Library Club was revived. All student librarians were members of this organization. The officers were as follows: president, Shirley Eastes; vice-president, Virginia Bartels; secretary-treasurer, Judy Wood.

The student librarians studied the processing of books, they gathered information for teachers, and they rearranged the books on the shelves. These and other such projects were assumed by this group along with their regular duties of taking charge of incoming and outgoing books, keeping the books in order and in good shape, seeing when and what books are overdue, and collecting fines.

They did a fine job in assisting students and teachers to find books and reference materials. The library bulletin board was kept up to date with new and timely reading material on all subjects.

Y-Teens

Y-Teens were highly successful during the 53-54 school year, both socially and financially. During the year, they held a sandwich sale and a bake sale, both of which netted profits.

In the way of social life, Y-Teens held two dances. The first was a square dance which proved to be most successful. On March 5 was the annual Y-Teen semi-formal dance, the theme of which was "Let's Pretend."

Helping others is a favorite project of Y-Teens. At Easter the girls made small Easter baskets and presented them to the kindergarten. They also made favors for May Day and took them to the Convalescent Home.

During the entire year different programs were presented, and on March 18 Miss Doris White met with the executive committee to give them ideas for future programs.

In the spring, candlelight services for the annual installation of officers was held. This climaxed another good year for Y-Teens.

Seated: Kay Cramer, treasurer; Sally Zimmerman, president; Reba Knapp, secretary. Standing: Sue Leggett, vice-president; Ruth Sparks, song leader; Barbara Curie, program chairman; Virginia Souder, devotional leader.

Blue Triangle

The Blue Triangle opened the year with an initiation party given for the freshmen. The girls were blindfolded and made to walk through pans of ice cubes, wet sponges, and macaroni. Games were played and refreshments were served.

In the fall the club was hostess to Mrs. Sam Kerr, who talked to them about India.

Next on the agenda was a style show. Among other things, the girls modeled church wear, formal dress, and the proper clothes for dating.

On December 16, Mrs. Joe Kerns, Jr., presented an interesting talk on Australia.

The Christmas card sale launched in November was a huge success, due to the co-operation of the members and the hard work of the treasurer, Linda Duerk.

The biggest project, of course, was the care of the Greek orphan girl, Evryklia Invanidou, whom they had recently adopted. Each month, the girls sent her $7, and at Christmas time sent her presents. Some of the girls keep up a correspondence with Evryklia.

The annual Mother and Daughter tea was held in May. This affair ended another successful and profitable year for the Blue Triangle girls.

SUPERINTENDENT E. V. MINNIEAR

Mr. Minniear has many duties throughout Garrett schools. He is the chief supervisor of the Garrett-Keyser-Butler school corporation. He interviews prospects for teachers and attends to all supervision of teachers. He, with the school board, plans the calendar for the school year. The finances of the corporation and the material needs of the schools are provided for by Mr. Minniear under the direction of the school board.

PRINCIPAL JOHN E. FLORA

Throughout our years at G. H. S. we look to Mr. Flora for much of our guidance. If we need help with academic decisions, he is usually our first source of information and help. The curriculum is planned and organized by Mr. Flora. He also has the final decision on athletic events, finances of the high school, and students entering college.

Honor Students

Only five students, since 1929, have attained a straight "A" or 4.00 average throughout their high school years. The class of '54 is proud to have two students attain this goal, Barbara Busz and Thomas Leech, who receive the valedictory honors. Franklin Trostel with an excellent record is the salutatorian.

Advisors

These are the people who brought a successful senior year to a climax; Mrs. Schlecht, business manager and play director; Mrs. Sweeney, Aeolian production; and Mr. Palmer, play ticket sales. To these the class of '54 give their deepest thanks.
